⁺⁺ This fee amended 20 May 08

Dog License Fees shall be pro-rated on a percentage basis, for the number of months remaining in the year for which the fees are being paid. That is, the person paying the fee shall only pay that portion of the fee, which represents the same proportion of the year, which remains until the annual fee payment shall again be due. (Pro-rating of fees shall not apply to persons who, through their own acts, failed to pay the full fee when it was first due.) For example, if a person owned a dog on the first day of the year when the license fee was due, but seeks to pay the fee 4 months later, that person will not be given a pro-rated adjustment to the fee and will be deemed to have failed to have licensed that dog, shall be subject to prosecution for failure to license and shall be required to pay the prescribed late fee (This section added 18 Mar 03). In contrast, a person who, 4 months into the license year, acquires a dog will only be required to pay for 8 months of the license period.

Adopted July 7, 2020 – Ordinance 20-19

Parks and Open Space Impact Fee –Assessed Rate
Description	Amount
Single family dwelling	$1882.54
Multiple family dwellings	See formula below

Method for calculating park impact fee for multiple family dwellings:

- 1) Estimate the population of the development by multiplying the number of units by a density of 2.8 people per residence.
- 2) Divide the number of people by 3.42 to obtain ERUs
- 3) ERUs x $1882.54 = Total impact fee

Traffic Impact Fees

Adopted March 3, 2020 – Ordinance 20-08

Traffic Impact Fee –Assessed Rate
Description	Amount per ERU
ERU	$55.42

Traffic impact fees are calculated based on the following method:

Determine the number of ERUs generated by the type of land use of development (an ERU is equivalent to a single trip). Multiply the number of ERUs by the Amount per ERU as indicated in the Table entitled Traffic Impact Fee – Assessed Rate.

*The volume “Trip Generation” manuals published by the Institute of Transportation Engineers, New York, N.Y. (current edition) is hereby adopted by the City of South Ogden as the basis and guide for determining the number of trips generated for various land uses within the city; further, each subsequent volume, or its functional equivalent, as determined by the Institute of Transportation Engineers or their successors, is hereby adopted, effective as of the time of its publication, for use by South Ogden City in calculating trip values for various land uses within the city for the purpose of determining applicable traffic impact fees.

 A trip is defined as the aggregate daily number of vehicle trips into or out of a property or land use activity.

 The restaurant fee will take all the different restaurant categories (fast food, high turnover, high dining, etc.) and average them

*The owner/developer of a “shell building” (see definition below) under new construction, shall be required to pay a “base fee” for traffic impact fees for that building based on the then applicable rate for a shell building as set out in the City’s Fee Ordinance.

Once actual use of individual spaces can be ascertained, the actual traffic impact fee that would be due under the City’s Traffic Impact Fee scheme for that space will be calculated and a square foot credit will be granted against the original base fee paid to the City based on the initial base fee paid at the time of permitting and development.

Adjustments between actual fees required and paid and the original base fee paid by the owner/developer shall be handled between the developer/owner who paid the base fee and the tenants/owners of the finally developed space. The City shall not make a refund to the owner/developer of any portion of the base fee merely because a tenant has now occupied the space and paid the actual, final fee or because of any differential between the base and final fee.

No refunds of traffic impact fees will be considered after twelve months from the date of initial occupancy of the finally developed space.

Shell building in this context is one that is designed for or generally understood to be of such a nature that one or more tenants or sub-uses will ultimately occupy the building either as tenants or condominium type owners. This type of construction contemplates possible multiple use types that, while authorized by zoning, are not immediately identifiable at the time of actual building permitting and construction.
